Patricia MacHale
president

At the right is a photograph of the Sigma Kappa dormitory at the University of the Pacific.

dear readers - -

well, this is the point where you have finished scanning the pictorial pages of activities you've participated in during the year, sanctioned or unsanctioned; and you've passed judgment. if anything has been left out, perhaps it's better left so; otherwise, remember there's a limit to the space.

the finished product you have here in your hands is a far cry from the one planned last fall, but the general idea, we hope, is still there—to give you a general picture of m. s. u. life during the past three quarters.

as work progressed, we found ourselves cutting here, changing there, to make the book fit the budget. at times we had to content ourselves with the slim satisfaction of knowing that we were keeping an old tradition alive. if we have, then our purpose was accomplished after all. if not, it's too late to weep now.

BUY WITH CONFIDENCE

Our country has not been devastated by bombs. Our people don't have to walk the streets with one eye cocked to the sky and both ears open for the warning to duck into a bomb shelter. Our men are fighting in every theater of war to bring the final victory.

It is unreasonable to suppose that any food will be allowed to go to waste in 1944. It is also unreasonable to believe our people will demand more than their share of the things we have.
